

STOP throwing away your empty wide format printer cartridges

RECYCLE and save 50% on your ink costs. Help protect the environment with the Repleo cartridge recycling program from Ink2image.

Repleo (Latin; to replenish, fill up, fill up again, fill, satisfy) is the new program from Ink2image that enables wide format printer users to turn their empty cartridges into cash and save 50% on ink costs.

Ink2image has developed remanufacturing methods to take empty original wide format cartridges and refill them with our latest color matched inks. The Repleo process means that original cartridges can be reused many times, helping to protect the environment and reducing our use of oil.

Repleo remanufactured cartridges are priced at approx. 50% less than new original cartridges, so customers also enjoy the added benefit of substantial savings in their printing costs. Ink2image will buy your empty original cartridges whether or not you use our inks, and pay for the shipping costs. Repleo remanufactured cartridges are available for purchase from our large inventory of original cartridges, without returning cartridges first.

How does the Repleo Program work?

The program has two parts – the supply of filled remanufactured cartridges, and the collection of empty original cartridges.

Firstly, customers who want to order Repleo manufactured cartridges and save 50% on their printing costs simply order them from our web site at www.ink2image.com, or call us on 800 443 9508 or 847 827 0747. You don't need original cartridges to return to us – we will supply you with filled remanufactured cartridges from our own inventory of original cartridges. When these cartridges have been used up, return them to us for remanufacturing again and we will give you a $ 2.00 credit against your next order for each cartridge returned.

Secondly, customers who have empty original cartridges to return should complete a cartridge return form (can be found at www.ink2image.com/repleo). Fax or e-mail the completed form to us so that we can provide a return authorization number as well as details of shipping accounts – we cover the shipping costs on all returned cartridges. Upon receipt of the returned empty cartridges at our warehouse, a refund check or an account credit will be processed.

How reliable are the Repleo inks?

The inks used in the Repleo process are the latest in a long line of award winning inks from Ink2image, and are guaranteed to provide the same or better printer reliability as the original inks. We use specially developed additives that reduce jet clogging and head dry out. Our own tests have shown that the Repleo inks require less cleaning during operation, and start up quicker after long periods of non-use than the original inks. Color consistency is also assured with the Repleo inks as they are closely color matched to the existing inks, so that existing profiles and color setting can be happily used.

Can I use Repleo cartridges alongside original cartridges?

Yes, all the inks used in the Repleo process are freely mixable with the original inks, and you can swap over to Repleo inks one color at a time to enable existing cartridges to be fully used up.

Are the Repleo inks archival?

We ensure that all inks we use in the Repleo program match or exceed the archival claims made with the original inks. We basically offer the same guarantee of archival life as the original machine manufacturer.

How does the Repleo program help protect the environment?

It is estimated that over 400 million inkjet cartridges are thrown away each year in the USA. The majority of these cartridges end up in land fills, and the plastic in these cartridges takes many years to degrade while leaching harmful chemicals into the soil. By using the Repleo program and recycling a cartridge ten times, a printer user is reducing the amount of plastic thrown away by 90%. Also, it takes approx. 4 quarts of oil to manufacture the average wide format inkjet cartridge. Recycling these cartridges through the Repleo program helps reduce our dependency on mineral oil.

How much does Ink2image pay for each returned cartridge?

We pay $ 1.00 each in cash for each returned cartridge, or $ 2.00 each as an account credit. This credit is not limited to use purchasing Repleo cartridges – it can be used against the purchase of any Ink2image product, including our extensive range of inkjet media and coatings. We also pay the freight on all returned cartridges.

Which cartridges can Ink2Image remanufacture?

The Repleo program initially covers the most popular Epson wide format printer models. We can supply 220 ml capacity remanufactured cartridges from our own inventory at a price of $ 45.00 each for the following models:-

Epson Pro 4000
Epson Pro 4800
Epson Pro 4880

Epson Pro 7600
Epson Pro 7800
Epson Pro 7880

Epson Pro 9600
Epson Pro 9800
Epson Pro 9880

Remanufactured cartridges for the Epson wide format printer models listed below require that customers send back empty cartridges to us before we can supply them with remanufactured versions of these cartridges, due to a limited inventory of original cartridges:-

Epson Pro 7000
Epson Pro 7500

Epson Pro 9000
Epson Pro 9500

Epson Pro 10000
Epson Pro 10600

Customers can also return empty original cartridges from other models of Epson, Canon, and HP wide format printer for cash or credit. We will shortly be expanding the Repleo program to include remanufactured versions of these cartridges. For a full list of original cartridges we buy back, see below.
